

This website of Artromedical Arthroscopy and Joint Reconstruction Surgery Center serves informative not consultative purposes. Authors have tried their best to make sure information presented on this website is in compliance with the current state of the art, indications and clinical practise. Despite that, due to scientific progress and changing law regulations, the Reader must acquaint themselves with the latest news about examinations and adverse drug reactions. This advice also applies to special warnings and precautions. This website is not a basis to take up any therapeutic measures. Only doctors and physiotherapists, having examined patients, are allowed to make decisions about diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation of the patient. The board, doctors and physiotherapists of Artromedical bear no responsibility for doctor errors and complications in patients who use our information on their own.

All rights reserved apart from graphics, diagrams and pictures. Reprinting and/or reproduction of a part or whole of this information in any form (including graphics, diagrams and pictures) without written permission of the Artromedical Arthroscopy and Joint Reconstruction Center and/or authors is forbidden.

All illustrations and films are of educational, not commercial, value. They may not be the basis to pose a diagnosis and start treatment.